Salary range: £28,098 - £46,827 (inner London)

Forest Hill is an oversubscribed 11-19 school which exists to serve the local community through innovative teaching and a broad and comprehensive curriculum offer in state-of-the-art facilities. We have a strong record of academic success which combined with our Performing Arts specialism underpins the development of our boys all the way to our co-educational post 16 provision. Ofsted recently judged the school "outstanding" in many areas including leadership and behaviour.

We are looking to appoint a highly skilled Design Technology teacher able to teach both Product Design and Food & Nutrition at KS3 and KS4. This is an exciting role that will see you working in our Expressive Arts Faculty which encompasses the creative subjects which play a key role in the broad and balanced curriculum that we believe enables students to develop their creativity, confidence and self-esteem.

Our ideal candidate is -

- An innovative and enthusiastic Design & Technology teacher qualified to teach up to GCSE
- An outstanding teacher who combines a range of innovative teaching strategies and excellent relationships with young people
- A team player who collaborates well with others and has the shared vision to lead and improve standards of teaching and learning
- Someone who looks for ways to improve themselves and the school and is not afraid of taking responsibility beyond their classroom

We will offer -

- The opportunity to work in an established and experienced Performing Arts school which challenges the stereotypes of underachieving boys in the Expressive Arts
- A personalised CPD programme that offers a range of opportunities to broaden your pedagogical experience and which seeks to support you in developing yourself for future leadership roles
- Modern, state of the art facilities, including the technology and resources to support the excellent teaching of Design Technology.
